

Suggestive Buffet

Dear Tim:

Still looking for suggestions for what to do with the center of your store now that you've transferred your liquor license to Kroger? How about an all-you-can-eat lunch buffet?

You could serve made-to-order sandwiches out of the meat department, chips from aisle 6 and drinks from aisle 1. Kahoots makes it work; why can't you?

Dear Hungry:

While you make a very reasoned argument for the buffet, and we do have all the ingredients to make it work (including the best locally sourced meats and cheeses and an exceptional beer selection), I think opening what amounts to a restaurant in the middle of the store would come with a whole new set of regulatory headaches I'm not prepared to have – no matter what the fine folks at Kahoots and the nice young ladies who work there are able to do. But keep the ideas coming.
