

Done With Debates

Dear Tim:

Have you ever seen so many political debates as you have this election year? There have been so many candidates and so many debates that they've had to have two of them the same night just to fit everyone on the stage! It's like they've turned the campaign into a reality TV show, am I right?

-Vote Me Off on Victorian

DEAR
TIM

Dear Vote:

You're not wrong. I think the TV networks figured out that name-calling and heckling draw way bigger ratings than boring policy conversations. And the candidates have delivered. If it gets more people to participate in the process and vote, I guess it's a good thing. But all this badgering is a bit much if you ask me. Here's something that's not up for debate: the tender juiciness of our rotisserie chicken. We keep it fresh and hot in the warmer back by the meat counter. Pick one up for dinner tonight. Just don't turn on the TV while you're eating.

---

Dear Tim is presented as a public service by Tim Huffman, owner of Huffman's Market. Write to him in care of Huffman's Market, 2140 Tremont Center, Upper Arlington, Ohio, 43221, stop by and say hi, or visit www.huffmansmarket.com.