

Steamed About Spam

Dear Tim:

I got a new laptop for Christmas, and as much as I'm enjoying all the updated programs and new apps, I can't get over the amount of spam I'm getting. I've got all the firewalls up and the restrictions turned on, but I can't seem to stop it. Any suggestions?

Dear Steamed:

The only Spam I know anything about is the meat that comes in a can. We have it in aisle 3. It's great in lots of recipes, from breakfast sandwiches and dips to grilled Spam and cheese. But this sounds like a computer problem, and that's not something I've got the IT or IQ to help you with. Do you have a teenage son, daughter, niece, nephew or neighbor? If so, they're far more qualified to answer your question than me, and I have an answer for everything. So I hate to say it, but ask the kids. Just prepare for the inevitable eye roll!
